About CashBack for Communities

CashBack for Communities is a Scottish Government programme which takes funds recovered from the proceeds of crime and invests them into free activities and programmes for young people across Scotland. - CashBack supports all 32 Local Authorities across Scotland.
- Sporting and recreational activities / culture / mentoring and employability / community projects.
- CashBack has delivered nearly 2 million activities and opportunities for young people.
- Phase 3 of CashBack runs to end March 2017 and is focused on positive outcomes for young people.

Activity number represents the number of activities and opportunities that young people have taken advantage of as a result of CashBack funding. It should be noted that CashBack partners may have worked with some of the same young people over a number of years. Therefore the total annual activity and opportunity figures might not directly correlate to the number of individual young people who have been involved with CashBack.

Historic CashBack funding (2008 -2016)

Examples of CashBack funded activities up to 2016

Youth Work has been funded through the Cashback programme since 2008. The Small Grants Scheme was established to support local authority led youth groups who may not previously have had access to external funding. The programme Small Grant Scheme has been managed by Youth Scotland and uniformed organisations who have received funding include various Scouts, Boys' Brigade and Girls Brigade companies who received over £147,000 in funding.

Additional funding for Youth work in the Glasgow area has been provided through YouthLink Scotland's Youth Work Fund. This has been running since 2008 when CashBack started. The Youth Work Fund builds the capacity of young people and the youth work organisations who work to support them. Over £1,492,000 was been invested in Youth Work in Glasgow since 2008.

The Amateur Boxing Academy was funded in the Glasgow area at several clubs including Argo ABC, Bellahouston ABC, Kelvin ABC, North Glasgow ABC, Noble Art ABC, Partick ABC, and Rob Roy ABC. It provided 10 to 19 year olds the chance to take part in a non-contact form of Amateur Boxing. The training programmes combine fun, games and exercise plus a chance to develop boxing skills. It also teaches core values such as fair play and self-discipline along with confidence building and maintaining a healthy diet and balanced lifestyle.

Jump2it, as part of the Scottish Sports Futures programme, has been delivered in Glasgow from 2012-14, with 54 Schools receiving the health and citizenship programme.

Link Up operated projects in Possilpark and the Gorbals, with respective host organisation North Glasgow Housing Association and Crossroads Youth and Community Association. Key partners within these projects included Bridging the Gap, Gorbals Parish Church, Way to Go café, Citizen's Theatre, St Francis Primary School, Chancers Women's Group, New Horizon's Group for local community workers and an Older People's group.

Creative Scotland operated a range of funded projects across dance, film and music. Examples include Dance House, an innovative participation project that will connect marginalised groups using bus routes throughout the city; Project Ability, aimed at additional need secondary schools encouraging greater interaction and shared learning between staff, pupils and parents from different schools and backgrounds across Glasgow; and SPL Trust, a vibrant project taking place at 14 football clubs across Scotland, engaging young people in high quality informal music making, using the power, brand and pull of major Scottish Football clubs.

Scottish Football Association (SFA) operated Schools of Football, which is a social and academic programme designed to use football as a tool to engage with S1 – S2 pupils from areas of social deprivation. Girls and Women's Club Development Officers were funded to work proactively to engage with girls to support an increase in participation across 9 – 24 year old females, develop an infrastructure which will support lifelong participation in sports for girls and can cope with the increased activity and link all this activity to clubs staffed with female coaches developed by Cashback funds. Another project, Volunteer Development has underpinned a great majority of the current activity which develops volunteer coaches to staff Cashback 7's, Midnight Leagues, Street Football and work within clubs. Football Equity, directed more specific focus on Ethnic Minority communities and assisting their opportunities to engage with programmes (either CB or SFA) and then into clubs to break down racial stereotypes and increase the wellbeing of neighbourhoods and football teams. Other projects funded were Bank of Scotland Midnight Leagues, Street Football and CashBack 7's.

Scottish Rugby Union, CashBack funding was used to part-fund five full-time and one part-time Development Officers in partnership with Cartha RFC, Glasgow Hawks RFC, Glasgow University and Glasgow Life. These posts were responsible for the delivery of the broad participation programme, Schools of Rugby and street rugby. Street Rugby was delivered in various Glasgow locations including Tinto Community Centre, Wellhouse Hub, Balgray Hill, The Connie, Scotstoun Community Centre and Yoker Community Centre. Since 2012, Shawlands Academy and St Andrews RC High School have been Schools of Rugby, which monitors pupil behaviour, skill development and physical competence. The school has provided evidence on the impact the programme is having on some challenging and disengaged young people, as well as growth of rugby participation throughout the school.

Glasgow Clyde College in conjunction with Scottish Power ran a number of 'taster sessions' for young people who have been identified as showing an interest in engineering, with a view to getting the young people on the road to training and possible employment in the power industry. This piece of work links into the referral agencies and those agencies supporting young people who are not currently in employment or training, and who have a criminal record or deemed to be at risk of offending behaviour.

Working on Wheels conducted a variety of work including Play Talk Read initiative and supporting The Salt & Light bus, which provided outreach work, providing support, food and clothing to women on the streets of Glasgow.

Glasgow – CashBack Outcomes: Case Studies

CashBack has made a huge difference to the lives of young people. We have captured information on individual case studies for CashBack partners which demonstrate the impact delivery activities have had to those participating. These can be accessed on the CashBack website at <http://www.cashbackforcommunities.org/>

K aged 17 from Carntyne Glasgow completed the first Gateway to Employment as part of the Celtic FC Foundation CashBack programme. She said that her favourite part of the GTE project was the two days at the Scottish Fire and Rescue doing the fire fighter taster days. K updated her CV while on the project and took part in several different personal development sessions. “I really enjoyed the personal resilience session from Martha but the best part was the fire fighter taster days!” She took part in all the physical activities and showed a great improvement from her initial bleep test to her final one. K is now working at Primark as a retail assistant full time having worked at the Celtic Superstore part time after completing the GTE project. K did a work placement at the superstore which led to her applying and being successful in getting part time employment there. When asked did this help her with finding the fulltime post with Primark she said “When I had my interview with Primark, they asked me about my experience, I could tell them about what I had been doing at Celtic. Getting the job at Primark full time is brilliant. I don’t think I would have the job if I didn’t get the chance at the Celtic superstore and can’t thank the programme enough.”

When J began engaging with the programme he was going through a residential rehabilitation service for his addiction. He was homeless and had been struggling with drug addiction for some time. J began attending the Street Soccer Scotland drop-in sessions and built up a strong relationship with the Change Worker. He started to access one to one support and through working with the Change Worker began to identify changes he wanted to make to his lifestyle. The Change Worker helped J to work positively with the staff in the rehabilitation service and, after J had identified he wanted to access the Football Works programme, negotiated with the service to allow him to get day release so that he could attend. J went on to participate in the course and work towards his qualifications. J's commitment and progress on the course earned him a place on a European exchange trip to Malta and he has since been selected for the Scotland Homeless World Cup team. Although still homeless, J has managed to maintain his abstinence and feels much more hopeful for his future.

R has developed and learned many new skills since beginning the CashBack funded Horticulture course at Glasgow Clyde College course. He has demonstrated that he can use all of the tools he has been shown correctly and understands and always adheres to the rules of Health and Safety which the class have been learning about. This allows R to carry out his work safely and to create a safe working environment for himself and those around him. R is a hard worker and has demonstrated this to his lecturers and key workers by showing enthusiasm and applying himself to every task. He takes on board any advice given to keep improving his practical skills. As well as developing his Horticulture and Landscaping skills, R has also shown positive changes in his behaviour. When asked how he felt his behaviour had changed since starting the course he said that; 'Since coming to college I have become more motivated. Before when I didn't want to do something I would just carry on until it was time to go home but now I just get on with the work because I know it will be good for me and I can progress onto other things. It's also made my attention span better and I can concentrate more'.

Before gaining work experience in landscaping and starting the course, R would often find himself in trouble as he didn't engage at school and felt that he had nothing to focus on. He has now shown an interest and enthusiasm for this area of work and is looking forward to continuing with this in the future. R is hoping to progress onto an apprenticeship in Horticulture and has also applied to study an SVQ Level 2 following the completion of this course.

S began attending the CashBack Twilight Basketball classes in Bellahouston after hearing about it through a friend 18 months ago. At first he was only coming for something to do. He used to spend his evenings hanging about in the streets before TBB. During the past 18 months, he found himself homeless, and through the support he received at Twilight Basketball through a network of coaches and peers, he has now got a house, and a job as a basketball coach. He is feeling very positive about the coaching position, and is getting a lot of gratification out of the fact he can help to teach and inspire youths like himself to go on to better futures. When asked what he would be doing if he didn't get involved with Twilight Basketball S said 'My life? If I didn't go to basketball I'd...it's hard to say do you know what I mean, but...just... drink. I know it sounds unrealistic and that but I probably would have turned to drugs. Because I never really had anything to focus on in my life until I did this – basketball is just my life now. Every night of the week I'm always wanting to do something towards basketball. I've got a job now. Before that I was just at school, I had nothing else to do, to focus on. I probably would have turned to alcohol, drugs, the usual, because I was just hanging about the streets. That's all I done – just used to play football in the streets. I'm the sort of guy who's kind of level headed in that way – I didn't ever want to get into drugs, but I know I probably would have said one night, you know f it I'll take a joint or whatever. Now my life has turned around for the better'

At the end of this they will have a bare bones for the musical. The writer director will then use their stories and material to flesh out a more in-depth story that can be presented in this hip-hop opera. They will then begin rehearsals for this production, over a ten-week period which will then be presented to a public as a performance. In the course of this project, the participants will write songs and share stories relating to the issues that they have already expressed and work in one of the city's theatre spaces so that they become familiar with the venue and takes them outside Govanhill. It will be a positive distraction from pressures such as alcohol and a space to talk about worries such as bullying (expressed by young people as major concerns). Confidence will be gained from learning new skills (i.e. everything that goes into making textiles and clothing from scratch e.g. drawing, researching, designing, screen printing, sewing, pattern making, dress making) and then seeing ambitious design work through to its conclusion. This confidence will then be further enhanced by the recognition given by such prestigious awards. It will then be further multiplied by showcasing and celebrating their achievements in public events including Arts Awards graduation ceremony with a public exhibition of their creations. As well as gaining confidence, skills and better mental and emotional health, young people will be more ready for work and business with enhanced Arts Awards personal statements (the Gold Award is equivalent to Scottish Credit and Qualifications framework level 6 or 35 UCAS points) and will have volunteering opportunities that are integral to gaining the awards.	Partick, Glasgow
